

I am very pleased with Indiana's "Do Not Call List" legislation, and I do not want to see our law weakened by the petition of the member banks of CBC to preempt our law with the federal law.

Prior to the enactment of our Indiana law, banks were the worst "phone solicitation" offenders that I dealt with. And, repeated reminders that I had requested removal from their list ALWAYS had to be made to get each bank to stop calling me. And, after a time, they always started calling me again. In short, they flagrantly ignored the laws that were in effect at that time for my protection, and I don't think they need to be rewarded with a preemption of the ONLY true relief I have ever gotten from their aggressive marketing calls--Indiana's law.

Please do not weaken our consumer protection--which most concerned citizens of Indiana support overwhelmingly--because of the petition of these banks.
